FOREWORD

Each edition of THE AMERICAN LIBRARY DIRECTORY is so contemporary that it is difficult to think of the book's going back, genealogically, for more than thirty years. This type of information first appeared as "A Select List of Libraries in the United States" in the Annual Library Index, 1908, edited by William I. Fletcher and published by the Office of the Publishers' Weekly. A list of Canadian libraries was added in 1909, and with the commencement of the American Library Annual, 1911-1912 (the successor, also published by the Publishers' Weekly Office), a third list, "Leading Libraries of the World" was included. The Annual continued through 1917-1918. In 1923, THE AMERICAN LIBRARY DIRECTORY, wholly devoted to the field, appeared, with successive editions in 1927, 1930, 1935, and 1939. One may well pay tribute to those men of foresight—among them, that guiding genius of many works of reference for libraries and the book world during his life time, Richard Rogers Bowker—who commenced and fostered a record of essential information about American Libraries.

THE AMERICAN LIBRARY DIRECTORY, 1942, is again considerably expanded. It has undergone thorough revision of statistical data. The typographic style has been improved by casting bookstock and financial information on separate lines. Key letters have been retained, to indicate the type of libraries; a new one—"Sp"—has been added to the former large, unclassified group. A list of these letters appears inside the front cover.

New features of the DIRECTORY include entries for subjects emphasized in the general collections, a list of memorial and distinctive names of libraries, and an expansion of the "Index to Special Collections" to include special libraries.

Aside from these new features, the scope of the DIRECTORY has not altered materially, except for the increased number of libraries. Two changes should be noted. First, statistical information about small public libraries (in communities of 1,000 population or less) has generally been dropped. Again, data taken from early editions—indicated by an asterisk (*) for the 1935 edition and by a dagger (†) for the 1939 edition—has not been repeated in full. Libraries are again classified in the following categories: (1) Libraries in the United States, (2) Libraries in the United States Territories and Dependencies, and (3) Libraries in Canada and Newfoundland. Other sections include (4) Library Schools, (5) Library Organizations, (6) State and Provincial Extension Agencies, (7) Memorial and Distinctive Names of Libraries, and (8) Index to Special Collections, Special Subjects, and Special Libraries.

(1) Libraries in the United States. This section includes in alphabetical order, first by state and thereunder by city, public libraries, educational and professional libraries, federal and state libraries, and institutional libraries. Statistics for the most part have come directly from the libraries themselves, usually representing the last fiscal or calendar year. Through the excellent assistance of the various State Library Commissions and State Libraries, and some state organizations, information about smaller public libraries has been revised, and the names of new libraries have been added. The list of public libraries, as far as the compiler knows, is virtually complete in this edition; those of other categories have been considerably expanded.

Two problems of inclusion have been solved. The first was branches. City branches have never been included because they are primarily distributing agencies. County branches, however, have in many cases retained some measure of their identity, upon joining a system. With the advice of the state agencies, the compiler decided to retain only those having some measure of autonomy as expressed by the retention of boards of trustees and independent book funds. The second problem—the WPA library—has, as one State Librarian observed, simply resolved itself.

Population figures are taken from the new Census; where none is given, none was found—principally for unincorporated communities.

(2) Libraries in the United States Territories and Dependencies. New information has been difficult to obtain for this group. Only Hawaiian libraries have been completely revised; that information reached the compiler by airmail before Pearl Harbor. Some help was secured on other parts from various sources.

(3) Libraries of Canada and Newfoundland. This section has diminished, somewhat, due not so much to lack of response, but to the fact that new Census figures for many small places previously listed could not be found; in some cases, if the collection was small, the entry was dropped. Information about those libraries which did not respond has been taken from the Survey of Libraries in Canada, 1939-40, issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, 1941.

(4) Library Organizations. This section includes state, provincial, and regional library associations and clubs arranged in alphabetical order.

Population figures are taken from the Preliminary Announcements of the Eighth Census of Canada, 1941, as far as they have appeared, with a few others as estimates from authoritative sources. A dagger (†) preceding the figure indicates an older reading.

This list includes a selection, only, of the smaller public libraries given in the 1939 Directory, with the addition of those in towns of 1,000 or more population according to the last census.

Complete library book service, as FOLLETT BOOK COMPANY conceives it, means more than just filling orders. It means sufficient stock to give prompt service—prompt service in book selection aids——prompt service in information about books—facilities for locating out-of-print items—purchasing power sufficient to take advantage of special offers so that savings may be passed on to customers—working knowledge of the special needs peculiar to each customer. In other words, FOLLETT Service means the willingness and ability to do the "hundred-and-one little things" that the librarian has a right to expect but cannot always anticipate.

The largest stock of new and used books in America is carried by FOLLETT BOOK COMPANY and WILCOX & FOLLETT CO. Seventy thousand square feet of floor space house over five million books. This tremendous stock is maintained and serviced by nearly 300 employees. Naturally such facilities make possible prompter handling and lower prices—they combine to stretch the buying power of every dollar spent by FOLLETT library customers.

FOLLETT prices are always low. New books from publishers' stocks are billed at maximum discounts. New and used books from special stocks are billed at extra-large discounts.

Try FOLLETT'S on your next order for

- prompt shipment
- maximum discounts

- thorough follow-up of back orders
- out-of-print books at reasonable prices

Generations of Library Experience Yours for the Asking

SNEAD & COMPANY pioneered the development of metal bookstacks and library equipment. It is a tribute to the creative ability of Snead engineers that so many of their original ideas have become standard library practice, and that so large a proportion of the world's great modern libraries are living monuments to their efforts.

The wealth of library experience gained through generations of specialization is available to you without cost, and may save you the necessity of duplicating expensive development work already performed successfully for others.

Whether you are planning an entire new library, a rearrangement, or even the simple addition of a few sections, it will pay you to consult us. No obligation, of course.

OUR WEST SPRINGFIELD PLANT

HERE WE STAND

In libraries abroad, explosions, fire, and pillage are destroying forever some of the world's most valuable literary treasures. We are shocked by the volume and the magnitude of the loss.

In our own libraries a less dramatic loss takes place daily. The war against wear and tear, while more prosaic, is being waged constantly. How are your books conditioned for the battle? We suggest you send them to us for rebinding that we may equip them to endure.

We have made adequate provision to carry on as long as materials and labor are available. We stand ready to help you in this war on destruction by giving full value for your bookbinding expenditures.

● Note the vital part the board plays in a binding. Cover material (A), back lining (B), end leaves (C) are all fastened to the board (D).

Not Every Board Used in Bookbinding is Binders Board

BINDERS BOARD is a special board which has been developed over a long period of years for bookbinding purposes. Purchasers of library binding must be sure to specify BINDERS BOARD when they place their orders. They cannot afford to be careless just because the board is hidden in a finished book, for the board is a vital part of the binding.

Study the illustration and you will see that the board is the foundation of the binding. The cover material is glued to the board, and the back lining and the end leaves are pasted to it. Consequently, the board must be strong or the corners and edges of the cover will crush and get dogeared; it must be dense and hard or the end leaves and back lining will peel loose from the board and the book come out of the cover. No binding is stronger than the board used in its cover, for no structure is stronger than its foundation.

There is only one board—BINDERS BOARD—which meets the exacting requirements of expert bookbinding. BINDERS BOARD is strong, hard and densely felted; it is a solid board and is far more durable than any other board that can be used as a substitute. These are the reasons why BINDERS BOARD is required in the Class "A" Specifications of the American Library Association and the Library Binding Institute.

Because long life is essential in library bindings and because the number of issues obtainable from a book is the basis of economical purchasing, be sure to specify BINDERS BOARD for all your library bindings.
